Straight Shooting

No sooner had George C. Scott been named as an Academy Award nominee for his performance in "Patton," than he asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration. "The whole thing is a . . . meat parade," he said. "The public display of talented adults, sitting like little schoolchildren waiting for their rewards, and the contrived suspense, is pure nonsense. I don't want any part of it." As a result, Scott probably will win no Academy Award, but he ought to receive an Oscar for shooting with his mouth — and hitting the mark. — Richmond (Va.) News Leader

Staggering Thought

Two accounting professors have suggested that it would be more efficient and economical for the Internal Revenue Service to stagger income tax returns throughout the year.

For example, instead of the April 15 deadline for all, individual deadlines might be set up — on the taxpayer's birthday, perhaps.

Sound thinking, from the standpoint of efficiency. But the thought of having to file your income tax return on your birthday is just too staggering. — Springfield (Ill.) State Register

Fur Raisers Dream:

Merretting A Fink

Science is ever alert to finding new ways to improve humanity's lot with new gadgets, gimmicks and inventions. And it is pleasant to discover that scientists also can keep a sense of humor as they labor so mightily to better the human condition.

According to the Farm Journal, researchers at Michigan State University are experimenting in cross-breeding minks and ferrets, the objective being to make life a little easier for America's few thousand mink ranchers. The mink, you see, is an ill-tempered little beast. By mixing in a strain of less evil-mannered ferret, the researchers hope to develop an animal that will have the mink's rich fur without his nasty disposition.

The name? If successful it will be a merret. If not, they'll call it a fink. — Louisville (Ky.) Courier-Journal

Etna Spews River of Molten Lava

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — A moving furnace of molten lava rolled down the side of Mt. Etna toward two mountain villages today, scorching and crushing some farm houses as it went.

The villagers of Sant'Alfio and Fornazzo grew more and more afraid that their homes might be destroyed. Although the lava's present course would take it between the two villages, residents knew that could change at any time.

Paolo Nicolosi, owner of one country house abandoned to the lava, fled to Sant'Alfio and lamented:

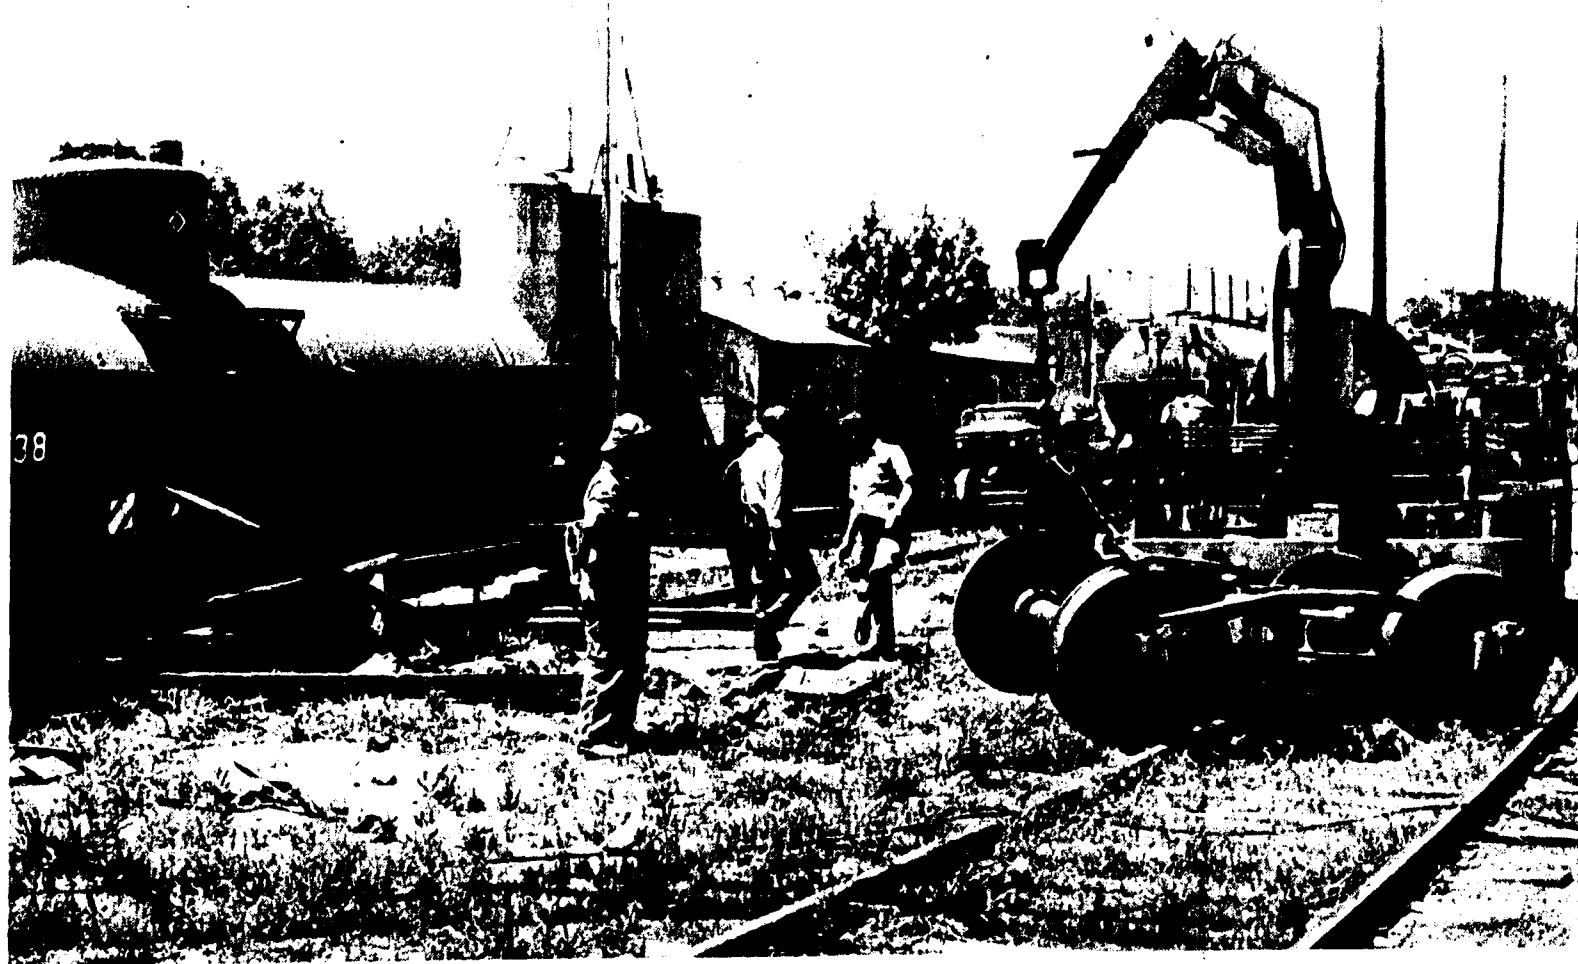

"We saved a lot for that beautiful house in order to take our vacations there, and now the fire has destroyed it all. For me everything is finished. I worked many years for what went up in smoke in a few minutes."

U.S. Troops in Asia Down to 262,500

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that American troop strength in Vietnam was reduced by 4,600 men last week to 262,500, the lowest total in more than five years.

Of the men withdrawn last week, 2,600 were Marines, leaving 8,600 in South Vietnam. All but a small number of advisers will be withdrawn by early June.

Pickets Begin Closedown of Rails

By BROOKS JACKSON

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pickets from the 13,000-member AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen began shutting down the nation's rail system today—only the fourth nationwide railroad strike in the past 50 years.

Picket lines first were reported at Rapid Transit on Staten Island, at Grand Central Terminal in New York, and at the Penn Central Station in Baltimore.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Missouri Pacific Railroad continued to operate with a "skeleton crew" this morning after members of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen set up picket lines at 6 a.m.

The strike began today after government efforts failed to mediate a settlement between the union and the National Railway Labor Conference.

A spokesman for Missouri Pacific said operation of the railroad was being handled by management personnel. He said the strike affected about 2,000 workers in Little Rock.

more shortly after the 6:01 a.m. strike call went into effect. Other lines were expected to follow across the nation as the starting time was reached in each time zone.

There was no immediate word on whether all railroad unions would honor the lines but union president C.J. Chamberlain said he had received assurances they would. He said the strike would affect every railroad in the nation.

The strike came despite government efforts to mediate a settlement between the union and the National Railway Labor Conference.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson, who announced the shutdown in a 1:30 a.m. news conference, said the department would continue its efforts to mediate a settlement. But he did not mention any scheduled further bargaining sessions.

"We will act and act swiftly," he said.

Asked if other means might be used to halt the strike, Hodgson said "All the other efforts available to the department have been exhausted at this time." He did not elaborate.

Money was the cause of the breakdown in the marathon talks, Hodgson said, adding that progress had been made in settling nonwage differences. The union had asked for 54 per cent increase spread over 36 months in the $3.78 hourly wage for skilled signalmen.

Management said it favored a formula, recommended by the emergency board the President convened at the start of the cooling off period, for a 42 per cent increase in 42 months.

Tiny Signalmen's Union Closing Down U.S. Rail System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Like David bringing down Goliath, the comparatively tiny signalmen's union today threw up picket lines that began shutting down the nation's vast rail system.

The administration called the strike a disaster and White House sources said President Nixon would ask Congress to halt it if it continued.

But Congress had made no special plans to handle the strike before it recessed for the weekend, and it was an open question how soon any legislation could be passed. It took a midnight session to put a stop to a one-day nationwide walk-out by four other unions last December.

Today's strike by the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen is the fourth nationwide rail walkout in 50 years. Although the 13,000 signalmen represent only two per cent of all rail workers, other large unions appeared to be honoring their picket lines as they spread across the country, starting at 6 a.m. local time in each time zone.

By 9 a.m. EDT a spokesman for the Federal Railroad Administration reported "a pretty well shutdown situation" as far west as Chicago, and predicted the rail industry would be at a virtual halt all across America by noon.

First to feel the strike were morning rail commuters in New York, Chicago and other large cities. New York's state-owned Long Island Rail Road was still running because it bargains locally, but all other commuter and intercity passenger trains were affected, along with freight service. No exemptions were made for military cargo or perishable goods.

In Key Biscayne, Fla., where President Nixon was winding up a weekend sojourn, White House sources said Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson was preparing legislation to send to Congress, probably by the end of the day.

Senate Republican Leader

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon will ask Congress to end the nationwide rail strike of signalmen by legislation if the walkout continues, White House sources said today.

The report came as pickets from the 13,000-member Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, their lines honored by other rail unions, began shutting down the nation's rail system. It was thought likely at the Florida White House, where Nixon spent the weekend, that the administration would go to Congress by the end of the day with a request for legislation to halt the strike.

Secretary of Labor James D. Hodgson, in Washington, was quarterbacking preparations for a request to Congress, the sources at Key Biscayne said.

Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania said Hodgson telephoned to say that the administration would submit emergency legislation sometime this morning.

There were spotty reports of some trains operating despite the strike. Chicago's South Shore and South Bend Rail Road was running because its signalmen belong to a different union. Missouri Pacific supervisory personnel manned skeleton crews in Little Rock, Ark., to continue operations there.

Supervisory personnel were being used to move livestock and perishable items, some railroads reported. The strike came despite government efforts to mediate a settlement between the union and the National Railway Labor Conference.

Hodgson, who announced at 12:30 a.m. that talks had collapsed and the union would go through with its strike threat, said the department would continue efforts to mediate. No further bargaining sessions were scheduled, however.

1 Dies in Crash Near Dogpatch

DOGPATCH, Ark. (AP) — One person was killed and two others injured this morning in a one-car crash on Arkansas 7 about two miles south of Dogpatch.

Dead is Billie J. Lewis, 19, of Dogpatch. State Police said she was a passenger in a car driven by Glen Lewis, 24, of Dogpatch. Officers said the car failed to make a curve and plunged down a 40-foot embankment.

Lewis and Randall Lewis, 2, also of Dogpatch, were hospitalized at Harrison.

Earthquake Detected in Colombia

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — A strong earthquake was recorded today by the University of California seismograph station which fixed its location near the Colombian coast.

The UC Seismologists fixed the location at about 3,600 miles southeast of Berkeley and at 100 to 200 miles below the earth's surface. He said the quake measured 5.5 on the Richter scale.

Jobless Pct. in Hope Area Is Only 4

A low unemployment rate of about 4 per cent for the Hope area has caused a critical shortage of male workers in this section, according to Teddy Jones, manager of the Hope Employment Security Division Office. This low 4 per cent rate compares to a 5.5 per cent figure for the state and a 6.1 per cent figure for the nation.

Several local plants and industries are undermanned and working at less than full capacity because of inability to secure an adequate labor force. The shortage is due in part to resumption of construction, agriculture and other outdoor type work Jones said.

He mentioned specifically one of the oldest plants in Hope which had to curtail production because of a shortage of 10 men. Wages or inexperience are not factors he continued because this particular plant's beginning wage is $1.90 per hour, with time and a half for overtime, which is well above the minimum wage of $1.60 per hour. This industry is also willing to train inexperienced workers, as do most industries of the area.

A surplus of female workers in the Hope labor market area has made it difficult to place women in employment during the past several months the statement continued.

All persons interested in steady, year around employment, especially male workers, are urged to report in person to the Employment Security Division office located at 700 South Elm, Hope, and register for work.

2 Collisions in City Over Week-End

Hope Police Dept. investigated two accidents over the week-end. At 3:30 p.m. Saturday, cars driven by Emmett Cannon of Rt. 1, Fulton, and Jackie Marsh of Rt. 1, McCaskill, collided at the intersection of W. Third and S. Hervey Sts.

No charges were filed by City Officer Richard Rowe.

Sunday at 4 p.m., cars driven by Watson Cottingham of Prescott and Mrs. Lenorah Avans of Hope, collided at the intersection of West 6th and S. Elm Sts.

Cottingham was charged with running a stop sign by City Officers Richard Rowe and James Rowe.

Weekend report violations: 3 traffic, 1 license, 1 liquor, 7 drunkenness, 1 driving while intoxicated, 1 carrying concealed weapon, 1 auto theft, 1 threatening officer.

This brings to a total of 120 accidents, 33 injuries and 2 deaths for the year.

Soviet Opens Talks on Troop Cut

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam met today to discuss the possibility of a mutual reduction of forces in Europe, the U.S. Embassy reported.

An embassy spokesman said Beam asked for the meeting in connection with Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev's appeal last Friday to start negotiations on reducing troops and armaments in central Europe.

The Embassy said Gromyko and Beam met for about 30 minutes at the Foreign Ministry.

Brezhnev said Friday in Tbilisi, the capital of Soviet Georgia, that: "Some NATO countries show an evident interest and even nervousness concerning reductions of armed forces and armaments in Central Europe."

"Their spokesmen ask whose forces are to be reduced—foreign or national, what armaments, nuclear or conventional? If anything is not clear to somebody we are ready to make it clear."

U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers answered Brezhnev's proposal two days later in Washington by calling it "a little vague."

"He talked of tasing wine," Rogers said. "We would like to know first if it is sweet wine, or is it sour?"

He added that the United States is "very anxious to negotiate with the Soviet Union a mutual reduction of forces in Europe," but first wants some assurances the talks would have a chance of succeeding.

He noted then that the U.S. ambassador in Moscow would begin to feel out these possibilities.

The embassy spokesman would say only that Beam and Gromyko talked today about the "possibility of negotiating on mutual force reductions in Europe."

He said the "Ambassador requested a clarification" of the Soviet proposal, and that the embassy "will be in touch with Washington" on the matter.

Rogers had criticized Sen. Mike Mansfield's proposals for a cut of American troops strength as dangerous and irresponsible and said such a cut might upset chances to negotiate with the Soviet Union for mutual disarmament.

"Why should we, the United States, reduce unilaterally and thereby kiss goodbye any chance we may have to negotiate successfully with the Soviet Union a mutual and balanced reduction." He said North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces are not just about on a par with Warsaw Pact forces.

"If the Soviet position has changed," Rogers added, "it is a very worthwhile move."

The frog, Razorback, jumped 6 feet, 3 inches to tie for 11th place with the entry from Delaware.

Postage Hike Now in Effect

By MARK BROWN

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Postal Service went to the stand today in an attempt to justify and make permanent the postage increases it already has put into effect temporarily.

Postal Service accountants and lawyers were the scheduled leadoff witnesses as the independent Postal Rate Commission opened hearings expected to last into the summer.

The hearings mark an historic moment of sorts in the nearly two centuries of the U.S. mails: For the first time since 1792, the price of stamps and other postage will be set not by Congress but outside the political arena.

The first mail-cost increases since Congress boosted the cost of first class postage to six cents in 1967 went into effect at midnight Saturday, despite attempts to stop them in U.S. District Court, the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court.

Surface and airmail stamps now cost eight cents and 11 cents, respectively, and postcards six cents. Airmail cards went up to nine cents.

Charges for second and third class postage were increased by 20 to 30 per cent and special delivery rates were increased by one third.

Parcel post was raised an average of 15 per cent last November, and is not involved in the current situation.

Under last year's postal reform legislation, which created the corporate-like Postal Service and the independent, five-member Postal Rate Commission, the cost of running the mails must be spread equally and equitably among its users.

According to the law, the rate commission must recommend rates to the Postal Service's board of governors. The governors on Feb. 1 sent the rate commission a proposed, $1.45 billion-a-year rate package, hoping that the commission would like it and recommend it right back. However, the law also requires the commission take testimony and evidence from the mail users who foot the bill and from a special section of the commission that represents the general public.

Some 57 organizations representing big mailers have signed up to be heard, including the Magazine Publishers Association, the American Newspapers Publishers Association and the Direct Mail Advertisers Association.

Murder and Suicide Near Locksburg

LOCKESBURG, Ark. (AP) — The bodies of Hoyt Thornton, 25, of near Locksburg and Mrs. Alta Linder, 59, of Locksburg were found in the Union Baptist Church near here Sunday morning.

State Police said the deaths were an apparent murder-suicide.

Trooper Hansel Bradford said it appeared Thornton shot Mrs. Linder twice in the temple with a .22-caliber pistol before shooting himself in the temple. The time of death was placed at 10 p.m. Saturday.

Bradford said the bodies were discovered by Mrs. Linder's daughter, Mrs. Neta Pickett. Bradford said Mrs. Pickett had gone to her mother's house Sunday morning and was passing the church when she saw a car parked outside and stopped.

New Trial on Mills' Will Case Ordered

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that the language of a last will and testament must take precedence over the intent of the maker of the will when the two are in conflict.

The court reversed a decision by Probate Judge Royce Weisenberger of Hempstead County.

The ruling came on a suit filed by the heirs of Oliver W. Mills over his last will and testament.

The will was prepared by Nellie Jean Webb, formerly a legal secretary.

In the will, Mills said that if he and his wife died "in a common disaster" the majority of his state would go to Charles William Wylie, a nephew of Mrs. Mills.

Mrs. Mills died prior to her husband, who passed away on Nov. 5, 1969. No language in the will made explicit provision for distribution of the estate if Mrs. Mills preceded her husband in death.

"There is an old adage 'Hard cases make bad law,'" The Supreme Court said. "The circumstances of this case are such that the old adage can be understood for actually our holding in this case may not be in accord with the actual intention of Mills . . . but certainly it is in accord with long established law that the court's finding shall be based on the intention as expressed by the language of the will."

Weisenberger had heard testimony indicating that Mills intended for Wylie to get a majority of the estate if Mills and his wife were both dead. Since there was no language in the will providing for majority distribution to Wylie except should a "common disaster" strike the Mills couple, that section of the will could not be construed in Wylie's favor, the high court said.

"Without any intention of being critical of the scrivener of this will, we have another clear example of a person who is untrained in the law, and totally unfamiliar with rules of construction, preparing a legal instrument," the Supreme Court said.

The case was sent back to the probate court.

Showers Due for State Today

Showers and thundershowers were expected to begin in western Arkansas today and then move across the state, reaching the eastern portion Tuesday.

Included in the forecast is the possibility of some severe thundershowers in the northwest portion tonight.

Warm temperatures are expected to continue through Tuesday.

Critical Pamphlet Legal

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court upheld today the right of citizens to distribute leaflets condemning the way a man conducts his business even when the businessman considers the leaflets offensive.

The 8 to 1 decision supporting freedom of speech was delivered by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger in a case from a Chicago suburb where a real estate man accused of "block-busting" lived.

The leafleters were members of Organization for a Better Austin, a group working to "stabilize" the racial ration in that section of Chicago by working against the mass flight of white people as Negroes move in.

In other actions today, the court:

—Refused to give James R. Hoffa, imprisoned Teamsters Union president, another hearing on his appeal from a 1964 jury-tampering conviction.

—Upheld the draft evasion conviction of a former New York divinity student who was denied conscientious objector status.

—Agreed to hear an appeal testing the limited immunity that the Organized Crime Control Act of 1970 gives witnesses who are compelled to testify before grand juries.

—Agreed to rule on the government's power to seize at the borders obscene material being imported for personal, private use.

—Stepped away from a ruling on the responsibilities of federal highway officials to protect poor people from being uprooted by new roads running through old neighborhoods.

The target of the leaflet campaign was Jerome M. Keefe, a real estate broker whose office was in the Austin neighborhood and who lived in Westchester, a suburb of Chicago, some seven miles away.

For a number of years, the boundary of the Negro-segregated area of Chicago had moved progressively west to Austin. The organization opposed real estate tactics known as "block-busting" or "panic peddling."

Members of the group contended Keefe aroused the fears of local white residents that Negroes were coming into the area and then, exploiting the reactions, was able to secure listings and sell homes to Negroes.

The leaflets were distributed in a shopping center, to parishioners on the way to Keefe's church and were left at the doors of his neighbors. A trial court found the pamphlets were orderly and did not disturb traffic.

Opinion Must Be Silenced in News

-AP Chief

By MARGARET GENTRY

Associated Press Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) —

Journalists who warp the facts with "ego trips" of personal opinion threaten the credibility of their profession, Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, says.

"There could be no more destructive development to journalism than to abandon objectivity," Gallagher said.

He spoke Sunday at the dedication of the Kent Cooper Room at the Indiana University Library. Cooper, a native of Columbus, Ind., was general manager of The AP from 1925 to 1951.

"Byline journalism ... today has been discredited by a few writers in the journalistic field into ego trips which threaten the credibility of the profession," Gallagher said. "They devote tens of thousands of words to their inner reactions to their news event, practice amateur psychoanalysis of the motives of the participants, and interpret it in the light of their own prejudices."

"If they don't bore the reader to death, they infuriate rather than inform him."

"It is not difficult, but it is highly unpopular, because if you truly write an objective story on many of the issues of today, you will be disliked and probably denounced by all sides you are writing about," he said, adding that the expression of opinion has "a legitimate place" in columns of opinion.

Sarah Gibbs Cooper, the widow of the general manager, joined Paul Miller, president of The AP and chairman and chief executive officer of Gannett newspapers of Rochester, N.Y., and Indiana President Dr. John Ryan at the ceremonies.

Carolinian Hits Nixon Crime Bill

By GREGG HERRINGTON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin says the Nixon administration's latest crime control bill is unconstitutional and motivated by politics rather than practicality.

The North Carolina Democrat and constitutional expert said the Nixon administration wants only to "impress on the American people the idea that the Justice Department is concerned about so-called law and order."

"They just want to make it appear to the American people that the Nixon administration is attempting to lock up all the dangerous criminals," the 74-year-old Ervin said in an interview.

The administration bill, sent to Capitol Hill Friday, would allow pretrial without bail for up to 60 days of persons accused in dangerous or organized federal crimes. That feature is among the most controversial in the recently-enacted law covering the District of Columbia.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the measure is designed to "protect the public" and added pretrial detention would not be imposed until "after a hearing with appropriate procedural safeguards."

Its use, Mitchell said, would be limited to defendants convicted of a felony within the past 10 years, those charged while free on bail from another charge or on parole or probation from other felonies, and drug addicts.

Ervin charged that in addition to being unconstitutional, preventive detention as Mitchell wants it simply would not be effective in fighting crime.

"I believe the attorney general is of sufficient intelligence to know what trying to fight crime by preventive detention is about as practical as trying to empty the Atlantic Ocean with a quart cup."

Ervin said a Bureau of Standards study made in the District of Columbia over a four-week period in 1968 showed that "only 5 per cent of those people charged are re-arrested within an 18-month period."

"And virtually all who committed crimes while on bail from a different charge did so after 60 days"—the administration's proposed limit for detaining suspects prior to trial.

It subjects people to the dangerous possibility and certainty that multitudes of innocent people will be detained," he said.

Superior Nat'l Forest Burning

ELY, Minn. (AP) — A fire that has destroyed 13,000 acres of Superior National Forest continues to burn out of control.

Forest Service officials set 6 p.m. today as the target for bringing the blaze under control.

Officials said Sunday that even when the fire in the wilderness Boundary Waters Canoe Area (BWCA) of northern Minnesota is brought under control, it may take a month or more to completely extinguish it.

Thick layers of peat moss are expected to smolder long after the fire on the surface is extinguished, Forest Service officials explained.

A service spokesman said 3,000 acres of forest were consumed Sunday in the 3 million-acre national forest.

The fire was confined to six square miles as 380 volunteers and 245 professional Forest Service personnel worked to slow the blaze.

The Forest Service estimated damage at $844,000, including $625,000 in timber.

Officials said ashes in runoff water are expected to hurt fish populations in several rivers and lakes in the area, and some stream banks, lacking a protective cover of vegetation, may erode. The exact cause of the fire had not been determined, but officials said earlier that it has been "man-caused."

The blaze started Friday in an area some 25 miles northwest of Ely where there had been logging operations.

In Santa Fe, N.M., there is a club called TOO1. It stands for "Trip Out on Trains." The president is Kristi Glatt, 12.

6 Week-End Deaths on State Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Six persons were killed on Arkansas' highways this past weekend. Three of the victims died in a two-car crash.

Thirteen persons were killed on the state's highways the previous weekend.

The Associated Press weekend fatality count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The three killed in the single accident were identified by State Police as Douglas H. Hoffman, 28, of Topeka, Kan., driver of one of the cars; Gertrude Hendrix, 49, of Topeka, and Gary Earl Wright, 23, of Garfield (Benton County).

Police said Wright's car crossed the center line on Arkansas 47 near the Missouri-Arkansas border in Benton County. Wright's car hit Hoffman's car headon.

A trucker, Robert Booth, 47, of Desoto, Mo., was killed Sunday night on Arkansas 69 near Batesville when he lost control of his truck on a curve. Police said he was thrown from the truck and pinned underneath one of the truck's wheels.

Doyle Black, 45, of near El Dorado was killed Friday night when his truck overturned on a curve on Arkansas 129 near Strong.

Berry Elston, 80, of Newport, was struck by a car and killed Sunday while attempting to cross Arkansas 17 about seven miles south of Newport.

Hike in SS Benefits Is Pushed Hard

WASHINGTON (AP) —

The House Ways and Means Committee approved today a five per cent across-the-board increase in Social Security benefits to be effective June 1, 1972. The benefit was inserted at the last minute in the committee's big social security-welfare bill, which was then approved without further change.

The House is expected to act on the measure early next month. The new increase would come in addition to a 10 per cent increase effective this year and a 15 per cent increase that went into effect last year.

The committee also retained in the bill a provision for automatic increases in benefits when the cost of living rises three per cent or more in a year.

However, the measure provides that no automatic increase can take place in the year following a legislative increase. So, adoption of the five per cent raise in 1972 would mean that no additional automatic raise could go into effect before 1974.

The increase was estimated to provide an additional $2.1 billion for Social Security recipients in the first full year of its operation.

There would be no immediate increase in taxes above the increases that already had been written into the bill, and which would mean a maximum additional tax next year of $145 on a worker earning $10,200 or more on his employer.

The committee voted 13 to 12 for the increase.

A move by Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., for a 50 per cent increase, went down without a recorded vote. A proposed 7 per cent increase was defeated 13 to 11 and a 5 per cent increase 13 to 12.

In each case several Southern Democrats joined the Republican minority to defeat the increase. Significantly, however, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., voted for both the smaller raises.

If past practice is followed, the House will consider the bill under a rule permitting no amendments. So the next opportunity will come in the Senate, which may not consider the measure until late this year, or even in 1972.

But a proposal for an increase is certain to be made in the Senate, sources said.

15 Million Asked for Ouachita

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Congress was asked today to vote $14.9 million for the Ouachita River 9-foot navigation project in Louisiana and Arkansas. President Nixon had budgeted $9.6 million for the project.

The request for the more than 50 per cent boost was made by H.K. Thatcher, Camden, Ark., of the Ouachita River Valley Association. He testified to a House Public Works Appropriation subcommittee.

Thatcher said the President's request was $2,425,000 short of the amount needed to complete construction work in Louisiana and to make a start on the project phases in Arkansas.

He asked the subcommittee to approve $4,228,000 for the channel construction work, compared with $1,803,000 as recommended by the budget.

He said this would permit allocation of $325,000 in funds to plan the Felsenthal and Calion locks and dams in Arkansas.

Construction work on the project in Arkansas has been delayed several years because of inability of local interests to provide additional land Army Engineers said is needed for the Felsenthal reservoir area.

However, Congress late last year authorized a national wildlife refuge area at the reservoir and President Nixon subsequently approved the project, permitting the Interior Department to purchase needed land.

Thatcher said $25,000 could be used to set up a real estate department to handle land purchases for the Felsenthal and Calion locks and dams.

Other major increases asked by Thatcher included $1,200,000 to extend recreation facilities at Blakely Mountain Dam and at Narrows Dam, $300,000 for tributary channel improvements for

19 GOPers Fight Nixon Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Nineteen Republicans who oppose some Nixon administration policies have met to find ways to force those policies to change.

Former New York Sen. Charles Goodell, in a telephone interview following the 6½ hour meeting Sunday, said the group decided not to embrace any single candidate not to make an irrevocable move to oppose President Nixon in the presidential primaries.

He said the group decided unanimously its action "should be termed an open insurgency, not a dump-Nixon movement."

Goodell said it was not the feeling of the meeting that Nixon should be opposed "for the sake of opposition but 'it was the desire of everyone there that the Nixon administration should change' its policies."

He said the differences with the administration extended beyond Vietnam and the economy and embraced the so-called Southern strategy, environment, the state of the cities, candor in government and the acts and statements of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Peterson, Jr., Mrs. Jim Hart sang a medley of songs, "This Is My Country," "America," "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Civic Participation Committee, Pat House, chairman, was in charge of the meeting. Representative Mack McLarty was introduced as the guest speaker. He told of the experiences he had in the political campaign of last summer, and he discussed the legislature and the work it accomplished.

"The average age of the legislators in Arkansas is younger than it used to be," he said. He stressed the importance of "being in touch with the people" and of realizing that "with rights come responsibilities."

President Mary Andrews welcomed the members and guests that included Mrs. Bob Neville, Mrs. A. B. Mhoon, Jr., and Miss Susan McCain. She encouraged the members to attend the state convention in Hot Springs May 28-29. A report was made on a workshop in Magnolia attended by Mary Andrews, Margie Vickers, Velora Bright and Opal Daniel. The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for next year, which was unanimously accepted.

President, Dee McMurrough; first vice-president, Charlene Wiggins; second vice-president, Donna Smith; recording secretary, Norma Jean Delaney; treasurer, LaVeta Mouser; corresponding secretary, Mary Anita Laster; parliamentarian, Mary Andrews. They will be installed at the June 10 meeting. A gift package of household and personal care items went to the 30 present.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. HAROLD W. MOBLEY

Miss Julia Burton Peck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wilbur Peck of Texarkana, and Harold Wayne Mobley of Little Rock, son of Mr. and Mrs. S.F. Mobley of Redfield, were united in marriage at the First United Methodist Church, Texarkana, Arkansas, on Saturday, May 15 at 11 a.m.

Dr. J. Ralph Hillis heard the exchange of vows in the presence of the immediate families.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of candlelight woven lace. The moulded basque bodice was fashioned with a high Victorian collar and long, wrist-length bishop sleeves. The controlled, bell-shaped skirt of side and back gathered fullness was floor-length. A narrow banding of Chantilly lace accented the gown.

Her veil of ivory pure silk illusion fell in soft tiers to her shoulders from a calotte of gently etched Chantilly lace appliques. The bride's bouquet styled in the colonial manner was fashioned of ivory rose buds and yellow ranunculus interspersed with miniature ivy.

Following the ceremony, a wedding brunch was held at the home of the bride's parents, Number 10 Accomac Place, Texarkana, Arkansas.

The bride is a graduate of Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri, and the University of Arkansas, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority.

The bridegroom attended Arkansas A. and M.

When Mr. and Mrs. Mobley return May 24 from a wedding trip to New Orleans and the Gulf Coast, they will be at home in Hope at 1820 South Elm. He will be engaged in ranching and real estate development.

A NOT-SO-HAPPY ENDING

Dear Helen:

This is "Joan." Remember me? I'm Ted's wife who is still in love with Jimmy. Seven months ago you printed my letter and asked your readers to be the advice columnists. A November column carried sample replies. You reported the vote was 15 to one "AGAINST romance and in favor of reality, duty, parenthood, marriage vows, security — all those things we're told moderns foreswear."

I was amazed at how many people responded, but shocked at how unsympathetic most of them were. They assumed Jimmy was the villain, Ted the hero, but in reality, though Jim and I were crazy in love, our mutual agreement was to "wait for marriage." It was Ted who (after the stupid fight I had with Jim) got me pregnant so that we rushed into marriage. Of course, it wasn't entirely his fault — I could have stopped him the one and only time it happened, but Ted, unlike Jimmy, WAS an experienced romantic. And he was so determined to have me for his wife that I couldn't run out, even though right up to the wedding — afterwards, too — I knew Jim was the one.

Your readers seemed to think that given a good, true and loving husband (which Ted is) I'd "come to my senses." You don't know how I've tried, Helen! I'm completely true: I told Jim my responsibilities are with my husband and baby and he agrees.

Ted and I finally talked it all out. We're actually becoming friends, but the romance is fading, even on his part. He knows we're staying together mostly for our baby. It's possible, now that we understand each other, we'll really fall in love, but how, when Jimmy is always there in my mind? ... And I know he'd be there in person if I said the word.

Helen, your advice, seven months ago, was "When in doubt, wait a while and see. ... Sometimes true love isn't where one thinks she has found it." Well, I've waited, and my problem is still the same: I'm married to a wonderful man I can't love, and in love with a wonderful man I can't marry. They both want me.

I have to add this: Ted is possessive, emotional, doesn't want to let me out of his sight. Duty, pity, friendship are the cornerstones of my marriage. And regret is the biggest stumbling block.

Under these circumstances, can it last? —JOAN, AGAIN

Dear Joan:

"Friendship" can scarcely become love when it is smothered by duty, pity and regret. Now is this kind of marriage to be led or to your

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Lure of the Tall Ship" on CBS Sunday night was an hour that held surprising rewards even for the viewer with little interest in sailing ships or the methods used to train Danish sailors for the merchant marine.

The Danmark, a 38-year-old, 200-foot sailing ship was the star of the program. But the cadet crew of 80 boys—ages 15 to 18—provided both drama and humor during the long voyage from Copenhagen to the West Indies. Three boys who spoke fairly fluent English were featured. They described their emotions—there was a homesick period at Christmas in the mid-Atlantic. One 15-year-old, learning to be a ship's cook, was the comedian of the show, partly because of his small size and his determination to keep up with the rest of the crew.

The photography was excellent—particularly the shots of the boys working on masts and sails more than 100 feet above the decks.

CBS tucked the program at the end of its schedule, preempting a rerun of Jackie Gleason's "Honeymooners."

Benjamin Britten's "Owen Wingrave," an opera written before television and based on a Henry James story, had its world premiere on the Public Broadcasting stations Sunday night, too.

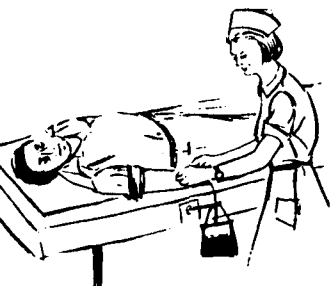

The story was about a conscientious objector who suffers for his convictions. Ultimately he got mixed up with some family ghosts who did him in. It was a bit melodramatic.

The only other network special of the weekend was ABC's "This is Tom Jones," which turned up in Pearl Bailey's Saturday night spot. This qualifies the program as special, but the program content suggested that it was a Tom Jones hour that had been turned out before his weekly series was canceled at midseason.

Jones did his usual quota of singing and writhing. Paul Anka sang some of his own music. Dusty Springfield had a couple of numbers and Frank Gorshin ran through the impressions that have become his trademark—Burt Lancaster, Kirk Douglas and Richard Widmark—among others. The perflage between the musical numbers—apparently mandatory in variety shows—was particularly lame.

Donating Blood

Be a life-saver by being a blood giver! Donating blood is a safe, painless, and a satisfying experience. An average adult has 10 to 12 pints in his body, with an average donation consisting of only one pint. Giving a unit of blood stimulates a healthy person's body to make more blood, and the blood count quickly returns to normal. It is only natural to be apprehensive about giving blood; however, millions of individuals are living today because of donors who have overcome their fears and realized the importance of giving blood.

son. He needs parents who love each other as well as him.

...And that's where my advice ends, for only you can make the final decision. It might be easier if you'd try a temporary separation—perhaps a vacation back home, to get your thoughts together. —H.

My daughter, in her mid-twenties, has been going with a man for three years. He is now almost 30. He tells her he doesn't believe in sexual relations before marriage, and that he has never had even a small affair with a girl. No engagements, no encounters, nothing. (No marriage talk either.)

You'd think a normal, healthy male would at least try. Do you think there's a future for her with him? —DOUBTFUL

A future with this unflappable fellow might be as unexciting as the past — with or without marriage. She should concede her romance has come to a dead end and look elsewhere, right? —H.

2-Year-Old Picks Up Much Skill at Experimental School

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sophia Reinhard is not yet 2 years old but she attends school 10 hours a day, five days a week.

In two months she's learned to use a fork, to paint at an easel, to put away her coat without being told, and to visit the bathroom alone.

Sophia and her six classmates, ages 18 months to 3 years, form the initial student body of an experimental day care center funded by the National Education Association.

The center is not a baby-sitting service, said NEA President Helen Bain, but is "a significant educational program for children who are at an age when learning is just beginning to be meaningful."

Hope Upset by Nashville by 9 to 3

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Errors don't necessarily kill a ball club, but they can hurt very badly, and possibly help build a lead that is hard to overcome.

Such was the case last Friday afternoon as the Hope Bobcats gave up a seven-run fourth inning and dropped a heart-breaking 9-3 decision to Nashville, who then lost to Texarkana in the finals.

Nashville took a 2-0 lead in the second inning and added their second seven runs in the fourth for a 9-0 margin. Five of the seven runs in the fourth inning were scored on errors.

Hope could not even get their offensive attack started until the bottom of the fourth inning, when Bubba Powers sacrificed home a runner on third base.

An inning later, the Bobcats scored their other two runs when Sidney Waller started things off with a single. Moving to second on a ground ball, Waller then scored on Bill Moore's single. Three more singles by Powers, Mike Downs, and Tim White, scored the last Bobcat run.

In the other game that night, Texarkana's Razorbacks completely smashed the Gurdon Go-Devs, 17-3, putting them into the finals with Nashville.

Texarkana went on to edge out the Scrappers in the finals on Saturday night, 6-4, behind an eight hit pitching performance by Danny Freeman, who helped his own cause with two hits in three trips to the plate.

Holding a 5-0 lead through the first four innings, the Hogs almost lost the lead, but some fine defensive performances allowed Texarkana to retain the lead and move on to victory, and the District 7 championship.

Babe Ruth, Doctor League Open Tonight

The Merchants Babe Ruth team will go against Blevins tonight (Monday) at 6:30 to open play for the 1971 Babe Ruth League season.

Corn Belt Hatcher's team plays First National Bank in the second game at Legion Field. All four teams have been anxiously awaiting this opening night match and hoping to start the season off with a victory. They should be fairly evenly matched and could make for two real good baseball games.

At K Park the Doctor League teams will also begin play with Dodgers playing the Cardinals at 6:30. Yankees and the Giants will play the second game.

Denny McLain and Joe Coleman have taken turns putting one over on their old friends with a lot of help from their new friends.

Coleman, traded from Washington to Detroit last fall in the celebrated McLain deal, pitched against the Senators for the first time Sunday—and beat them 5-4 on Mickey Stanley's second home run of the game after squandering a four-run lead.

Last Friday night, McLain made his first start against the Tigers—and blew a 2-0 advantage in the ninth inning before winning 3-2 on Paul Casanova's sacrifice fly.

In other American League games, Minnesota defeated the Chicago White Sox 6-2; Milwaukee topped California 6-2 and Oakland divided a doubleheader with Kansas City, bowing 10-4 after a 4-2 first-game victory. Rain washed out the Baltimore-Boston game and the Cleveland-New York Yankees doubleheader.

In National League play, Pittsburgh downed the New York Mets 4-2; Los Angeles throttled San Francisco 9-6; Montreal drubbed Cincinnati 9-3; Houston pounded St. Louis 12-4; Philadelphia nipped Atlanta 4-3 and the Chicago Cubs outscored San Diego 9-8 in a 10-inning doubleheader opener.

The second game at Chicago was suspended because of darkness after six innings with the Cubs leading 6-3.

Second-inning homers by Stanley and Norm Cash helped stake Coleman to a 4-0 lead, but big Frank Howard lashed a homer and run-scoring single as the Senators fought back to tie.

Coleman, who suffered a fractured skull when he was hit by a line drive in a March 27 exhibition game, was on the ropes after Howard's fifth-inning single knotted it.

But Tigers Manager Billy Martin stuck with the 24-year-old right-hander and he responded by tossing one-hit ball the rest of the way—while Stanley broke the deadlock with a leadoff homer off reliever Denny Riddleberger in the eighth.

Cesar Tovar scored the deciding run on a sixth-inning balk by Chicago reliever Vincente Romo as the Twins came from behind to trim the White Sox.

Minnesota tied the game 2-2 in the sixth on doubles by George Mitterwald and pinch-hitter Charlie Manuel, an error by pitcher Tom Bradley on Tovar's sacrifice bunt and a single by Rich Reese.

Romo then came out of the Chicago bullpen, walked Harmon Killebrew on four pitches and was charged with a balk when he slipped off the mound on a 2-0 pitch to Jim Holt, enabling Tovar to score.

The Twins drew away on Leo Cardenas' seventh-inning homer and a two-run double by Mitterwald in the eighth.

Ellie Rodriguez and Ted Kubiak smacked their first home runs of the season and Tommy Harper broke out of a prolonged slump with a triple, double and two singles, leading Milwaukee past the Angels.

Skip Lockwood squared his pitching record at 3-3 with eight-inning relief help from Ken Sanders.

In the first game at Kansas City, the A's capitalized on an error by shortstop Fred Patek, who failed to touch second base on a one-out force play, to snap a seventh-inning tie on run-scoring singles by Bert Campaneris and Reggie Jackson.

John "Blue Moon" Odom, making his first start of the season after recovering from winter elbow surgery, pitched six strong innings for Oakland in the nightcap before going out for a pinchhitter.

Paul Schaaf led the Kansas City attack with a single, a run-producing double and a two-run homer.

Hogs Split a Pair in Baseball

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Arkansas split a baseball doubleheader with Union University of Jacksonville, Tenn., here Saturday. Arkansas won the first game 5-2 and Union took the nightcap 6-2.

Donnie Allison Wins $30,000

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — It was the richest "one lap" race in the history of stock car racing, and that final trip the Alabama International Speedway Sunday paid Donnie Allison $30,600.

"I just happened to be in the right place at the right time," said the 31-year-old from near-Hueytown, youngest of two racing brothers, after the Winston 500-mile battle that actually was decided in the final 2½ miles.

Allison beat his 33-year-old brother Bobby across the finish line by a car length in one of the most thrilling races ever run anywhere. Bobby, in turn, beat strongman Buddy Baker to the line by about three feet to capture second place.

A blanket could have covered three cars anywhere on the steeply-banked course during that final lap.

The stretch duel was set up when Dave Marcis, subbing for ailing Bobby Isaac, broke the engine in his Dodge while leading the two Allison and Baker into the first turn to begin the 182nd of 188 laps around the 2.66-mile speedway.

Marcis' car caught fire momentarily and crashed into the outer rail of the turn, bringing out the seventh yellow light of the day. The green racing flag—meaning full speed ahead—came out five laps later, with only the 188th and final circuit left.

But while the leaders were running full bore, the speed ranged well above the 185 m.p.h. mark, aided by drafting techniques that allow one car to run in the trailing vacuum of another car.

Only four drivers handled the race prior to the dramatic finish and the two Allison, Baker and Marcis shared the honors. Bobby Allison, who replaced three-time Grand National champion David Pearson in the Holman and Moody Mercury only a week ago, led the most laps, 70. Donnie was in front 64 circuits, Marcis for 38 and Baker for 16.

Bobby Allison picked up $19,850 for second place, while Baker was paid $9,925 for third.

BATTING — Doug Rader, Astros, knocked in six runs with a grand slam homer and two-run double, leading a 17-hit Houston assault that buried St. Louis 12-4.

PITCHING — Joe Coleman, Tigers, went the round, scattering 10 hits, to lead Detroit over his former teammates, the Washington Senators 5-4.

Utah, Ky. in Final ABA Game

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Utah Stars and Kentucky Colonels head back to Utah Tuesday for the championship game of the American Basketball Association title series.

Kentucky's 105-102 victory in the nationally televised sixth game Saturday in Louisville left the series knotted at 3-3, with a sellout crowd of 13,000-plus assured for the finale in Salt Lake City's Salt Palace.

If past records hold, Utah will take the title. Utah has won all six meetings between the two teams in Salt Lake City this season, including three in the playoffs.

The Salt Lake City altitude, over 4,000 feet, has bothered some Kentucky players, who said they had trouble breathing in the thin air.

"You really drag after awhile," says Colonel guard Louie Dampier. "Sometimes it's really tough to catch your breath."

Colonels president, Mike Storen said club officials didn't consider the altitude enough of a problem to provide sideline oxygen for the Colonels, however.

This is only the second time in the ABA's five-year history the championship series has gone the full seven games, the first having been Pittsburgh's seven-game win over New Orleans in 1968.

Travs Lose and Swap Players

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers lost to Albuquerque 5-2 Sunday and a few minutes after the game was over Jack Krol, Arkansas manager, announced a player swap.

The win kept Arkansas from taking a five-game sweep.

Krol said that George Greer, a left-handed hitter, will be shipped down from Tulsa. In exchange, Randy Brown, utility man, will go to Tulsa.

Last summer, Greer led the California League with 96 runs batted in 115 games. He also had 21 home runs and a batting percentage of .304.

"I don't mean Greer is going to make a sensational difference in our club overnight," Krol said. "But even if he should come here and fall flat on his face — which I don't think he will — he'd still hit some home runs in our park."

Geoff Zahn, Albuquerque pitcher, was responsible for Sunday's victory. He entered the eighth with a two-hit shutout and a 5-0 lead.

Brown hit a runner in and the Travelers scored another run in the ninth but it was not enough.

The Travelers will open a five-game series Tuesday with Amarillo.

In other Dixie Association action Sunday the scores were: Dallas - Fort Worth 6, Birmingham 2; Shreveport 5, Amarillo 0; Montgomery 8, Savannah 7; Asheville 1, Columbus 0; Charlotte 4, Jacksonville 1; and San Antonio 4, Memphis 3.

Canonero the Unknown Adds Preakness to Ky. Derby Victory

By GORDON BEARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — Canonero II, virtually unwanted as a yearling and unknown as the Kentucky Derby winner, now has the opposition unghing as he shoots for the first Triple Crown in 23 years.

"I don't intend to hook Canonero again if I can help it," Reggie Cornell, the trainer of Eastern Fleet, said after the Cindarella horse of 1971 scored a spectacular triumph Saturday in the Preakness.

It was Eastern Fleet who stayed with Canonero II throughout the 1 3-16 mile classic. But at the end, Venezuelan jockey Gustavo Avila and his mount were pulling away.

The victory margin was 1½ lengths and the time of 1:54 broke the Pimlico track record, set in the 1955 Preakness by Nashua, by three-fifths of a second.

The Belmont Stakes in New York, last of the Triple Crown series on June 5, is at 1½ miles. Arias said the distance would not bother Canonero II, and the owners and trainers of other horses seem to agree.

So far, only Jim French, the third-place finisher from the 11-horse Preakness field, seemed likely to compete in the Belmont. Five of the field were in the Derby, too, with Jim French the runner-up that time.

Sound Off was fourth in the Preakness, followed by Bold Reason, Executioner, Royal J.D., Vegas Vic, Impetuosity, Spouting Horna and Limit to Reason.

Despite the recent startling successes, however, the Belmont doesn't figure to be a walkover. Among the Belmont possibilities who missed the first two Triple Crown races are Good Behaving, Run the Pantlet and On Your Toes.

Citation, in 1948, was the last since 1958, the Belmont has been the stumbling block for Tim Tam, Carry Back, Northern Dancer, Kauai King and Majestic Prince.

Canonero II, whose $137,400 winner's share upped his lifetime earnings to $315,089, was sold for a mere $1,200 as a Kentucky-bred yearling at Keeneland.

The sire, Pretendre, finished second in England's 1966 Epsom Derby but was not well known in the United States. In addition, Canonero II had a slight leg deformity that turned away potential buyers

Canadiens Tie Up Stanley Cup Series

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer MONTREAL (AP) — "Those Mahovich boys," Chicago Coach Billy Reay sighed, shaking his head in disbelief.

For the second Sunday in a row, that's all Black Hawks goalie Tony Esposito seemed to see. And, as they had a week earlier, it was those Mahovich boys—Frank and his kid brother, Pete—who carried Montreal to a thrilling victory in the nationally televised National Hockey League championships.

The Canadiens come-from-behind 4-3 triumph sent the Stanley Cup series back to Chicago for the seventh and deciding game Tuesday night.

Frank scored a playoff-record 14th goal and missed a chance to up that count on a first-period penalty shot. His 27 playoff points also tied the single-season mark.

Peter scored twice, including the winner with Montreal playing a man short in the third period.

Jim Pappin of Chicago and Yvan Cournoyer of the Canadiens traded goals midway in the first period, then Pete put Montreal in front in the second period, cruising behind the Black Hawks' net and slipping the puck past a surprised Esposito.

But Chico Maki and Pappin struck for the Hawks in the closing minutes of the period and Chicago held a 3-2 lead, giving the Canadiens only 20 minutes to avert something that had never happened to them before—elimination from the Stanley Cup at home.

They made sure it didn't happen this time either. Barely five minutes into the third period big brother Frank grabbed the loose puck, raced in on Esposito and fired.

The Chicago netminder stopped the shot but Mahovich grabbed the rebound and

Green Defeats January

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer HOUSTON (AP) — Rookie Hubert Green said he felt no particular pressure when he went to the first extra hole in a sudden-death playoff with veteran Don January for the $25,000 first prize in the Houston Champions Invitational Golf Tournament.

"Well, hell," shrugged the lachrymose, unflappable young man, "I'm walking down No. 1 fairway and I sure can't finish worse than second. Everyone else has finished."

He nailed down the top prize on that first extra hole Sunday, lashing a nine iron shot 13 feet from the flag and running in the putt from his unorthodox stance deeply crouched, feet widely spread, and elbows out.

The birdie won it over the 41-year-old January, a 16-year-old veteran and former PGA champion. January missed the green and chipped to about three feet before the 24-year-old rookie settled it. Green, who failed to make it when he first tried the PGA players school, joined the tour only late last year. The victory pushed his earnings for the year to $59,300, $44,100 in the last four weeks.

Green, a native of Birmingham, Ala., and a Florida State graduate, and January finished the regulation 72 holes with scores of 280, just four under par on the rugged, 7,166-yard, par-71 Champions Golf Club course.

Green had a steady par 71 on the final round while January closed quickly with a 68.

At one time or another during the hot, sultry day, seven players either led or were within one shot. One by one they faded back as the lean, dark-haired Green held on.

Lee Trevino had a 67 for 283, one stroke back and tied at that figure with Bob Murphy, who had a 71. Dan Sikes, 66, and Lou Graham, 72, followed at 282.

Masters champion Charles Coody, who shared the lead at one time, ran into trouble coming in and finished with a 75 for 284. DeWitt Weaver, the third round leader, also took a 75 for 283. Arnold Palmer was never in contention and finished with a 75 for 294.

stuffed it into the net.

And less than four minutes later he set up his kid brother with the winner, skating in on the Chicago goal, drawing the Black Hawks defenders to him, then slipping the puck to Pete, who rifled it home.

It was the penalty shot which had the Montreal Forum in an uproar—until Esposito blocked it. The shot—the first in NHL playoff history—pits a lone attacker against only the goalie with just one attempt at a goal.

It was called by referee Art Skov when Frank Mahovich broke in on Esposito and the netminder threw his stick to deflect the puck.

Then, with the rest of the players out of the way and the puck sitting alone at center ice, Mahovich skated in circles as the crowd held its breath.

"I took my time before attacking," said Frank. "I was trying to figure out what I would do. But Tony surprised me. I didn't figure he would come out so soon. He came out quickly then started back. As soon as he started back I shot. Maybe I should have waited longer."

Esposito said playing a penalty shot is "just like any break-away. You wait for the shooter to make his move and then react."

Rader Grand-Slams Houston with 6 Runs

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer Just when it appeared the Redhead was dead, Houston Manager Harry Walker breathed life into slump-buried Doug Rader.

"I might not be out of my slump yet, except for Harry—he took me to his room in New York last week and talked about my problems," said Houston's third baseman dubbed "Red Rooster" for his flaming hair and gregarious ways.

Rader responded to the ego-building chat with his second, straight two-hit game Sunday—including six runs batted in on a grand slam home run and double to lead Houston over St. Louis, 12-4.

Pittsburgh beat New York 4-2; Philadelphia axed Atlanta 4-3; Montreal clobbered Cincinnati 9-3; Los Angeles tripped San Francisco 9-6; and Chicago topped San Diego 9-8 in 10 innings in the other National League games. The second game of a Chicago-San Diego doubleheader was suspended after six innings because of darkness with the Cubs leading 6-3.

American League scores: Detroit 5, Washington 4; Minnesota 6, Chicago 2; Milwaukee 6, California 2; Oakland 4, Kansas City 2 in the first game of a doubleheader and Kansas City 10, Oakland 4 in the second. Rain washed out a doubleheader between Cleveland and New York and a contest between Baltimore and Boston.

Rader, who admittedly doesn't like the Astrodome for hitting "It's too big—the ball doesn't carry there" ripped the third slam of his five-year career in the first inning off Jerry Reuss.

It triggered Houston's biggest splurge of the year—17 hits. The Astros scored three more in the third, two on Rader's double, and four in the fourth. Rader's six RBI tied a club record.

Houston Ace Larry Kierker, notching his sixth victory in seven decisions, wasn't around at the end. He labored the first six innings, coughed up 13 Cardinal hits, and needed relief help from Jim Ray.

Richie Hebner, Manny Sanguillen and Bob Robertson stroked run-scoring hits and Dave Giusti choked off a ninth-inning rally as Pittsburgh beat New York and climbed to within two games of the Mets in the East.

Giusti came in to get the last out after Pittsburgh starter Dock Ellis was touched for a run and left men on first and third. The victory salvaged one of the three-game set for the Pirates.

Willie Montanez, who earlier drove in three runs with two homers, doubled and scored the winning run on Don Money's ninth-inning single as Philadelphia held off Atlanta. Money's hit proved to be the decisive run as the Braves came back to score twice in the ninth on singles by Sonny Jackson and Dusty Baker.

John Bateman drove in four runs with a homer and sacri-

Miss Palmer 4th Among Lady Golfers

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Sandra Palmer's sudden victory in the $50,000 Sealy Ladies Professional Golf Association Classic has jumped her from 10th place to fourth in the women's circuit standings.

Miss Palmer's winning shot came from a sand trap on the par five, 18th hole Sunday. It was good for an eagle and final round of two-under-par 71 on the Desert Inn Country Club course.

Hampering the final day of play were 25-to-35 mile-an-hour winds with occasional gusts to 80 m.p.h.

Her four-round total of 289 paid $10,000.

The closest contender, Donna Caponi, carded a 74 with a birdie on the 18th. She held a one-stroke lead going into Sunday's action. She took $6,000 prize money with her 291 strokes.

It was the first time for the women to play the Sealy tournament.

Miss Palmer's victory spoiled Sandra Haynie's attempt to win her fourth straight victory on the LPGA tournament.

Miss Haynie carded a four-round total of 300, six places back, and claimed a $1,275 cash prize. Miss Haynie still leads the women's circuit this season with 82 points. Kathy Whitworth trails with 48. Miss Blalock has 41.5 and Miss Palmer 37.

Austrian Grabs Lead in Harness Run

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a wire-to-wire triumph for Austria's Adolph Ubleis. Back on May 3 at New York's Roosevelt Raceway, he gained the lead in harness racing's world driving championship.

Saturday night at Philadelphia's Liberty Bell he wrapped up the title by a 42-point margin over Bill Haughton of the United States.

Prior to Saturday night race the 33-year-old Ubleis led Haughton by 101 points. But in the first trot Ubleis finished fourth with Erie Hanover while Haughton was fifth with Sword Hanover to clinch the championship, sponsored by the Harness Tracks of America for the second year.

Ubleis had 680 points to Haughton's 638. Peter Wolfenden of New Zealand finished third with 519 points, followed by Herve Filion of Canada, 510, Gordon Rothacker of Australia, 345, Norway's Karsen Buer, 243, and France's Jean-Rene Gougeon, 223.

Meanwhile, Miss Conna Adios, driven by Tom Lewis, posted the fastest mile of the year at Saturday night—1:58 2-5—in the $10,000 feature pace at Liberty Bell, leading all the way. The payoff was $15.80 for win.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS MOSPORT, Ont. (AP) — Wayne Kelly of Ottawa, driving a Titan, captured the second round of the formula Ford championship Saturday, covering the 20-lap 50-mile race in 33 minutes 16 seconds.

Kelly now leads the championship standings with 15 points. David Loring of Concord, Mass., is second with nine.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Country and western singer Marty Robbins has signed to enter the $199,000 World 600 NASCAR-sanctioned race at the Charlotte Motor Speedway May 30, the speedway announced.

He flew to lead Montreal over Cincinnati. Bateman delivered a first-inning run with his fly ball and added the crusher with a three-run homer in the eighth.

Wes Parker's two-run homer highlighted a three-run eighth and Los Angeles struck for three more in the ninth for a comeback victory over San Francisco.

Jim Hickman's two-run homer in the bottom of the 10th carried Chicago over San Diego for the Cubs' sixth straight victory. The second game will be resumed Aug. 4, prior to the Cubs' next regularly-scheduled game with San Diego at Chicago.

NCAA, AAU May Resolve Their Feud

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Amateur Athletic Union, long in a bitter battle over the control of amateur athletics in the country, again are trying to resolve the feud.

The presidents of the organization, Jack Kelly of the AAU and Dr. Earl Ramer of the NCAA, met here today for what they called exploratory talks.

"We are trying to find a way of bringing the two organizations together," said Ramer, who also is faculty chairman of the University of Tennessee.

Kelly, who sought the meeting with Ramer, also stressed that he hoped to find a basis for settling the dispute.

The AAU and the NCAA have been at odds for years over the administration of amateur athletics in the United States. The feud centers on whether the AAU or the NCAA shall control track meets and other athletic events.

The NCAA has prohibited college athletes from taking in AAU meets under the threat of stripping the athletes of their scholarships.

The AAU has been the traditional governing body of open track meets. But NCAA schools, which supply most of the athletes, maintain they have a responsibility to determine whether proper conditions are met for off-campus competition by their students.

Israeli Hold Up Peace Talk With Egypt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Israeli analysts predict a lull in negotiations with Egypt as a result of the uncertain political situation in Cairo following President Anwar Sadat's purge of his Egyptian rivals.

They said until the situation in Cairo clarifies, Washington would be unable to pursue its campaign for an Egyptian-Israeli agreement to permit reopening of the Suez Canal.

Diplomatic maneuvers also will be hampered for the rest of this month because Premier Golda Meir will be visiting Scandinavia, and Foreign Minister Abba Eban will be touring Africa.

Israeli leaders took a restrained attitude toward Sadat's arrest of rivals he accused of plotting against him. The Israeli cabinet heard reports Sunday on Egypt's political turmoil from Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and the army intelligence chief, Lt. Gen. Haron Yariv.

No details of the cabinet discussion was disclosed. But specialists on Arab affairs agreed that Sadat's purge was prompted by internal political friction and not by his recent attempts to reach agreement with Israel on the canal. However, they would not speculate on how Sadat's shakeup may affect efforts toward a settlement.

The uncertainty felt by policy makers in Jerusalem was reflected in the lack of political declarations for or against Sadat.

In Cairo, Sadat hit back at critics of his efforts to reach a peaceful settlement with Israel.

"We are seeking peace based on justice, not peace at any price as some people think," Sadat said in an address to Moslem religious leaders.

"We are following three parallel paths, the military buildup which is the basis, the political struggle and the construction of a modern state based on faith and science."

"We must purge our lands of the Israeli enemy."

The official Middle-East News Agency said Sadat continued his housecleaning by firing Communications Minister Kamal Henei Abadir and replacing him with Abdel Malek Saad, an engineer. The president also appointed Gen. Saad el Shazli chief of staff to replace Gen. Mohammed Sadek, who was elevated to war minister and commander in chief.

Italian Dies in Florida Auto Race

PALMERMO, Sicily (AP) — The hazardous Targa Florio auto race has claimed the life of Italian driver Fulvio Tandoi, 33, in the 55th and perhaps the final running of the world's oldest road race.

Tandoi, was fatally injured on the first of 11 laps on the hilly, twisting course when his Alpine-Renault crashed into a tree. Blow torches were needed to extricate him. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a hospital.

There have been demands that this event be dropped under international rules banning dangerous tracks. So far Sicilians have prevailed in maintaining sanction for the event.

Three other top favorites crashed on the first lap of the 492-mile event, known as "The Race of 1,000 Curves."

Nino Vaccarella of Italy and Holland's Toine Hezemans, in an Alfa Romeo, averaged 74.6 miles an hour to win the race in six hours, 35 minutes and 41 seconds, ending Porsche's five straight years of domination here.

50 Officers Break Up 'Phone Fight

By DOUG STONE

Associated Press Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — A dispute between neighbors over use of a telephone expanded Sunday into a gun battle between more than 50 policemen and a man who barricaded himself in his house.

Patrolman James C. Crossno, 26, was gravely wounded when he was struck in the face by a 12 gauge shotgun blast from the house.

Homicide detectives said they anticipated filing of formal charges against Sam D. Farmer today.

The patrolman underwent brain surgery Sunday night and hospital officials said he was hanging between life and death. Inspector John Slaughter said, "all we can say now is that he has lost his right eye, he can not hear, he is paralyzed."

The incident began when Crossno and Patrolman Michael Davidson answered a complaint from Christopher L. Rochester that a neighbor—Farmer, a 58-year-old steam fitter—had fired a shotgun into the Rochester home.

The officers went to Farmer's front porch and Davidson quoted him as telling them, "get out or I'll kill you."

"We got off the porch when we saw he was armed," said Davidson, who headed for their car while Crossno ducked behind a tree and began trying to talk the man into putting down the shotgun.

"I was radioing for help when I heard a shot and saw my partner fall onto the grass grabbing at his head," said Davidson. "I emptied my service revolver into the front door and radioed that my partner had been hurt bad."

When additional officers arrived on the scene they drew more fire from the house.

Chief Henry Lux said from 200 to 300 rounds were fired into the house. Police fire was from time to time in massed volley and was especially intense as Crossno was dragged past the house to the ambulance. A police helicopter met the ambulance two blocks away and airlifted the officer to the hospital.

Tactical Police Commander Capt. John Molner then ordered a final barrage against the house, followed by tear gas through all eight windows.

Police smashed in the front door and found Farmer inside on the floor, wrapped in a wet blanket. He was removed to a hospital for treatment of tear gas inhalation and a minor wound. Officers said a bullet severed one of his fingers.

Rochester, the next door neighbor, is an invalid veteran. "He (Farmer) came over to my house early this (Sunday) morning and wanted to use my phone," said Rochester. "I told him I was asleep, to use his own phone. He went off mumbling."

Rochester said he was sitting in his dining room shortly before noon and Farmer appeared again with a shotgun and fired it into a window of the Rochester house.

Hope Gridders With Henderson

Jones, a senior, plays defensive linebacker and the Reddies are depending on him next fall. McQueen, a defensive lineman, and Still, a defensive back will add depth to the Reddie program.

Parents of the players are: Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Still and Mr. and Mrs. O.A. McQueen.

Enemy Fires on U.S. Planes

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — A North Vietnamese battery fired two missiles at a U.S. gunship plane 23 miles inside Laos Sunday, and another SAM site threatened a flight of American fighter-bombers.

None of the U.S. planes were hit. One of the jet fighter-bombers attacked one of the SAM sites with unknown results, the U.S. Command said.

A spokesman, Maj. Charles Johnson, said his records indicated it was the first time the Soviet-supplied missiles had been fired at one of the AC130 gunships, a four-engine converted transport loaded with special electronic equipment to detect truck traffic on the Ho Chi Minh trail. Johnson said, however, that enemy ground fire brought down an AC130 in the lower panhandle of Laos on April 22, 1970, and its 10 crewmen were listed as missing.

The AC130 on Sunday presumably was on the prowl for North Vietnamese trucks when it was fired on.

The missiles came from a battery in the vicinity of the Ban Karai pass, on the North Vietnamese border about 31 miles northwest of the DMZ, Johnson said. But he said there was no U.S. retaliation to the attack.

The hour of the attack was not reported, but the AC130s usually fly at night because their special devices can seek out trucks in the darkness. The prop-driven plane is a version of the Lockheed C130 Hercules cargo and troop carrier with a maximum speed of 360 miles an hour. The AC130 and another gunship, the AC119, have been credited with destroying more than 100 trucks during one night's attacks along the MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An Illinois girl has testified before a U.S. magistrate that she was forced to work as a prostitute for a week by a man who threatened to harm her family.

Janice Wilhite, 19, told Magistrate Aaron Brown she and a second girl were picked up by a man as they were hitchhiking in Granite City, Ill.

She said the man told them they would have to stay with him or he would "blow up our houses and hurt our families."

She said they went to Nashville at the end of April, then drove to Memphis to pick up his camper.

"He made us work on the way back to Nashville," she testified. "We stopped at one truck stop and he made us entice the truck drivers into the camper for purposes of prostitution."

She said she made $135 in one night.

FBI Agent Burl Smith told Brown, he arrested John Roland Flynn 32, of Lake City, Ark., on a charge of violating the Mann Act.

Smith said a second man, Paul Lucas, was under arrest in Nashville.

Miss Wilhite said she and the other girl also had been forced to work at a truck stop in Florence, S.C., and in Nashville.

She said she eventually managed to call her parents, then police.

Flynn was bound over to a federal grand jury in Nashville under a $15,000 bond.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB
Tension May Be A Factor

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—What causes me to have tightness and soreness in the back of my neck at the base of my head. At times I give a quick jerk with my head and it makes a popping noise and it relieves the pressure for a short while. I am inclined to be very nervous. It comes on me more if I am upset over anything. When I was 20, I received a hard blow on my chin, and the trouble came on shortly afterwards. I am 48 now and wonder if that could have been the start. Could you tell me what I should do to relieve the condition and what doctor I should see for some help? At my age it will be bothering me more.

Dear Reader—As you describe your pain, it is probably due to muscle spasm. The muscles in the neck contract and cause limitation of motion and give rise to pain. When you move your head and stretch the muscle sufficiently, the spasm or cramp is relieved and the pain may disappear. This is similar to stretching the calf muscle if you have a cramp in the leg.

It is true that individuals with repeated episodes of muscle spasms are more apt to have them when they are experiencing tension. There are a lot of things, however, which can contribute to the problem, and apparently you have been having difficulties for almost 28 years.

Posture can be a contributing factor, if you have one leg which is considerably shorter than the other, the entire skeleton will be out of line and will change the pull on the various muscles along the spine all the way up to the neck.

Such an underlying postural defect can constantly irritate the muscles and make them more susceptible to spasms or cramping. Disorders of this sort can be corrected, or helped, with a heel lift (a pad under the heel or increasing the thickness of the heel of the shoe) in many cases.

You should see a specialist in physical medicine. Your family doctor, county or state medical society can give you the name of a reputable specialist in physical medicine near your home. Underlying disorders, like postural defects, usually can be corrected.

In the meantime, for recurrent episodes, you may soak the neck muscles with a hot towel until the muscles are warmed and then try to move and rotate the head as much as possible, thereby relieving muscle spasms. That is about as far as you should go without having an examination.

Aspirin, which is remarkably good at relieving pain, is sometimes helpful in making these conditions tolerable.

Avoid anyone who wishes to manipulate your head. Sudden, sharp twists and turns of the head have been known to cause dislocation of the cervical (neck) spine, causing severe injuries and even death. Be certain that you see a reputable physician for this type of problem.

PERSONAL FINANCE

Anyone who has ever bought a single share of stock, or ever expects to, is hereby advised to engage in an exercise that will blow your mind, curl your toes and make your hair stand on end. As an investor, you will never be the same again.

The recommended exercise is the reading of a book just published, "If They're So Smart, How Come You're Not Rich?" "They" are the experts who tell you what to buy, and when.

"They" write the market letters that list the stocks you should buy, sell and hold, and tell you which way the market is going to move.

They are the analysts who do the research for your broker, on the basis of which he earnestly tells you, "Here's a special situation we like very much."

They are the registered investment counselors who will, for a fee, manage your portfolio, making the buy-and-sell decisions for you.

And of them, author John L. Springer asks the embarrassing question that serves as the title for his book. How come, indeed? With all this expert advice guiding the investor, how come we're not making it by the barrel—all of us?

Well, there are some 350 advisory services available to the investor. Springer points out that anyone can publish a market letter, hang up his shingle, advertise for clients. Virtually anyone. All you do is register with the S.E.C., a formal-ity barred to you only if you have a criminal record.

Among those who registered last year is a high school graduate who has been working for a produce company as a buyer. You can subscribe, for $65 a year, to his semimonthly publication. Other registered advisers, Springer reports, have included a department-store stock clerk, cab drivers, plumbers and shoe salesmen.

There are, of course, financial services that use a professional approach. The field is so cluttered with incompetents, however, that in picking a stock you're better off pulling names out of a hat, studies indicate, unless you've selected your advisory service with great care.

Then there's the brokers' own private research. It is impossible to convey in a paragraph or two the genuinely horrifying picture the author creates.

The most chilling example is the case of Dunn Engineering, a company that was for all practical purposes bankrupt—yet for five months, eminently respectable securities' analyst and brokerage-firm research departments continued to tout its stock highly.

Why? Not because there was any sinister plot afoot; simply because so many of the experts, supposedly reporting to buyers the results of professional investment research, were fools. The only word for them—fools.

The impact is shattering as the author piles up the evidence, page after page. The effect can't be conveyed in this short space. The book will stun you, and perhaps leave you feeling a little ill if you're an investor.

But you ought to read "If They're So Smart, How Come You're Not Rich?" (publisher, Henry Regnery Co.) It should be in bookstores by the time you read this.

Teacher Shortage Is Now a Case of Over-Supply, LR Reports

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

In only a few years, Arkansas, like the nation, has gone from a situation where a teacher shortage was feared to one where an oversupply is apparent.

The Little Rock District has 500 or more new applications, plus about 1,000 previous applications on file, and only 150 to 200 positions to be filled.

The Conway District, according to Supt. Carl Stuart, has received the most new applications in recent memory, mostly from in Arkansas, but also from other states.

"We've got them from California, Canada, Massachusetts — all over," Stuart said.

Supt. Floyd Parsons of the Little Rock schools said that applications in 1970 set a record for the last decade. "But this year tops last year," Parsons said.

Similar conditions were reported in other districts.

Only a small percentage of the new applications are from teachers in other states, administrators said. These apparently represent a desire to switch from a major urban center to a smaller urban center.

"The big city, the population density and various other factors, magnify the problems, and sometimes the cost of living, make a smaller urban center much more attractive," one administrator suggested.

Parsons said he believed that the increase in unemployment nationwide had been a factor in the upsurge in applications. Salaries also have improved to the point that people who once turned to other fields for the sake of more money may be turning back to teaching.

A number of applications also appear to be from former Arkansians who accepted higher paying jobs in other states, but now desire to return to their native state for a variety of reasons.

The board voted to hire Hutto during an executive session Saturday morning. Gov. Dale Bumpers was contacted during the meeting and he telephoned Hutto in Texas and offered the job. Hutto said Hutto accepted and Bumpers relayed the word to the board.

The board chairman said Bumpers and not the board made the offer "to reinforce in Hutto's mind that this was a unanimous thing from the chief executive and the board."

Hutto, a native of Sinton, Tex., holds a bachelor's degree from East Texas State University in history and sociology. He studied theology at Southern Methodist University.

He joined the Texas Department of Correction as a security guard in July 1964. By October in 1964, he was made captain of custodial officers in the diagnostic center, a unit where all new inmates are received. In January of 1965, he was moved to the Jester Pre-release unit as a psychologist. In May of 1965, he was promoted to assistant warden of the Ferguson unit for first offenders, serving there until receiving the promotion to warden of the Ramsey unit.

Cost of SST Revival Is Reduced

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is moving to assure Senate backers of a revived supersonic transport that it really won't cost another billion dollars to get the SST program going again.

The use of the billion-dollar figure by spokesmen for the prime SST contractor, Boeing Co., was viewed by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield as dimming any prospect his chamber will go along with House action last week and vote to put more funds into SST development.

Battle over the money estimates was the focus of five hours of Senate debate scheduled today. A vote is in prospect early Wednesday evening.

Sunday, Clark McGregor, the former Minnesota congressman now the chief White House lobbyist on Capitol Hill, said Boeing Chairman William Allen was wrong in predicting an SST revival could cost as much as $1 billion.

HOPE (ARK.) STAR, Printed by Offset

"Should the Senate vote to continue the SST as the House has done, startup costs will be nothing like those publicized as having come from the Boeing chairman," McGregor asserted. McGregor commented on the CBS TV-Radio program "Face the Nation."

In a news conference last week Allen said all SST contracts would have to be renegotiated before any work could begin, probably at a higher cost. He said the scattered SST assembly team would have to be rehired.

These and other expenses would bring the cost for renewing the SST production to no less than $500 million and perhaps as high as $1 billion, Allen said. The aerospace industry, hurt by the refusal of Congress to refund the program two months ago, would now want iron-clad guarantees the project would go forward to completion, he stated.

McGregor cited estimates it would cost some $700 million just to dismantle the SST program compared to no more than $500 million to revive it.

'72 Campaign Previewed in Wisconsin

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Auditioning in a state that could become a crucial political theater next year, four senators have given Wisconsin party leaders a preview performance as prospective contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Wisconsin's share of the casting for that role comes in an April 4 presidential primary.

Although the state's top Democrat, Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, said it is simply too early to forecast who will emerge as the front runner, that billing now belongs to Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine.

But Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota already has a campaign organization at work in Wisconsin. Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana is making his contacts and party contributors who heard from the potential candidates seemed interested in seeing more of Sen. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa.

And there will almost certainly be other names on the Wisconsin ballot.

The four senators were the featured attraction at a $100 a plate steak and stawberry shortcake dinner Saturday night. No one emerged as a star: They shared about equally in the applause of an audience Lucey said included party workers crucial to any candidate.

The speeches were standard Democratic fare. Indeed, it seemed at times, the performers could have traded texts without difficulty.

"The men in the Democratic party's repertoire of potential national leaders differ in style and approach and to some degree on the issues," said Hughes. "But on the big moral stands they are united."

Muskie's speech too, was a standard piece, perhaps most notable for his statements that Democrats must strive to forfeit the war issue by ending the conflict before the 1972 campaign even if that means losing the election.

Bayh came on like an evangelist, gesturing, pointing, dramatically repeating his phrases and at one point smacking the microphone accidentally. "We can ignite a spark of hope in the heart of even the most insignificant soul in the darkest corner of our society," he said at the end. "This I believe and so must we all."

Finally, McGovern stressed the war issue, and his proposed legislation to force U.S. withdrawal by the end of the year. The withdrawal theme was popular. Each man mentioned it and each was applauded for it.

Present but silent was Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin who is doing some presidential exploration and could wind up a primary contestant.

Lucey said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington almost certainly will be on the ballot too unless they sign disclaimers of candidacy. Without such a disavowal, anyone designated a presidential prospect by a state commission automatically goes on the ballot.
